

Biography

Randall Clark, MD, FASA

Randall M. Clark, M.D., FASA, president of the American Society of Anesthesiologists, was elected for a one-year term in October 2021.

Dr. Clark is professor of anesthesiology at the University of Colorado School of Medicine and a pediatric cardiac anesthesiologist at Children's Hospital Colorado in Aurora.

Dr. Clark is a member of ASA's Executive Committee and Administrative Council. He has served ASA in numerous roles, including chair of ASA's Sections on Clinical Care and Professional Standards. He is also a member of ASA's COVID-19 Council, and has served on the Committee on Innovation, Committee on Professional Education Oversight, Committee on Governance Effectiveness and Efficiencies, Committee on Quality Management and Department Administration, and Committee on Pediatric Anesthesia. He has been on ASA's Board of Directors since 1995.

Dr. Clark is a long-serving member of the Colorado Society of Anesthesiologists' Board of Directors and is part of ASA's Delegation to the American Medical Association. He also recently served on the Anesthesia Quality Institute's Board of Directors and has held leadership positions with the Society for Pediatric Anesthesia, Pediatric Anesthesia Leadership Council and Denver Medical Society.

Dr. Clark received his Bachelor of Science degree in Aerospace Engineering Sciences, with honors, from the University of Colorado in Boulder before graduating from the University of Colorado School of Medicine in Denver. He completed his anesthesiology residency and fellowships in pediatric and cardiac anesthesiology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and is board-certified in anesthesiology and pediatric anesthesiology.